A Decade Begins

Just as the students were the most important factor in making Swan Valley a great high school in the 70's, so will they be in the 80's. Through the efforts of its students, Swan Valley High School rose from a position of relative obscurity to one of prominence in the Saginaw area.

Representatives of each of the first classes of the 80's pictured to the right are Senior Brian Benson, Junior Peggy Schrems, Sophomore Chuck Gabriel, and Freshman Barbara Rusmisel.

The high price of gas caused many people to switch from big luxury cars to small economy vehicles. Vans and sports cars, although quite popular, are being driven less due to these prices. If this price rise continues, we may soon be seeing a half empty school parking lot.

Spirit Makers

The Swan Valley Pom Pons and Cheerleaders have helped a lot to give this year tons of spirit. They have been at the coldest football game and to the toughest competition to give entertainment and spirit. Also the Swan Valley competition band and the Color Guard with Field Commanders Robert Barnette and Teri Ford have been in many parades and band competitions where they have won many trophies.

The highlight of the 1979 Homecoming was the crowning of Denice Tovey as Queen. Elected by the entire student body, Denice represents Swan Valley at its best. Besides being active in pom pons, band, National Honor Society, and as treasurer of her class, she works at McDonalds on Gratiot. When asked her feelings when her name was announced as queen, Denice said, "It was like a dream. Everything was so exciting and unreal. It's an experience I'll never forget."

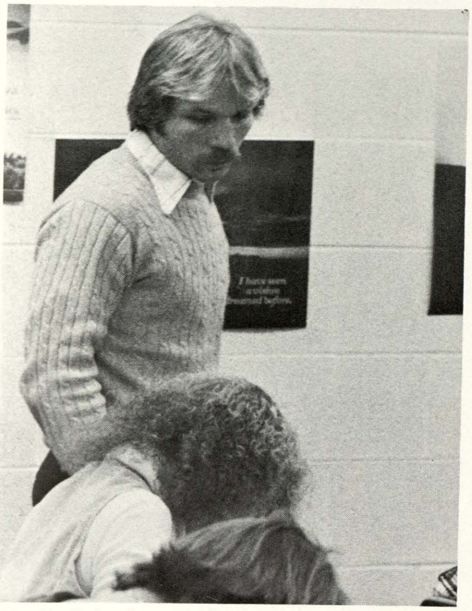
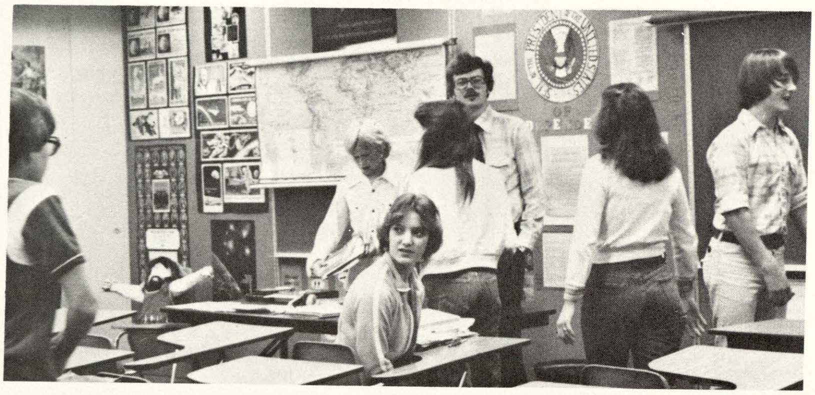
Freshmen And Their Educators

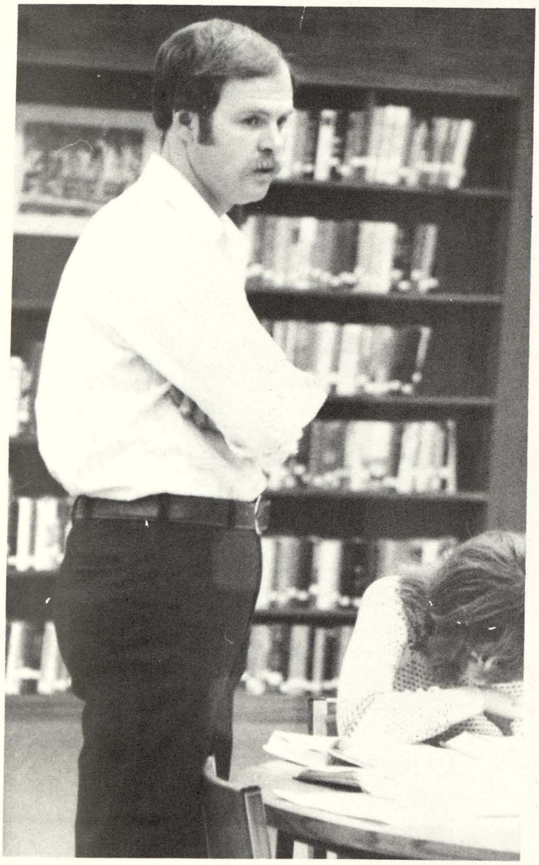


Mr. Kralosky keeps a constant eye on his students.

As the freshmen began their high school careers, they quickly became acquainted with the teachers of their required courses. Mr. Kralosky taught Academic English to both 9th and 10th graders. A required course which included both geography and civics was taught by Mr. Majeske. Mr. Kennelly and Mr. Kutsch instructed them in health and physical education which are part of the freshman curriculum.



Mr. Majeske's classroom is one of busy activity.



As Mr. Kennelly's health students work on research topics, he is available to assist them in the library.

Mr. Kutsch eyes a student who is using the wrong fingering in his typing class.

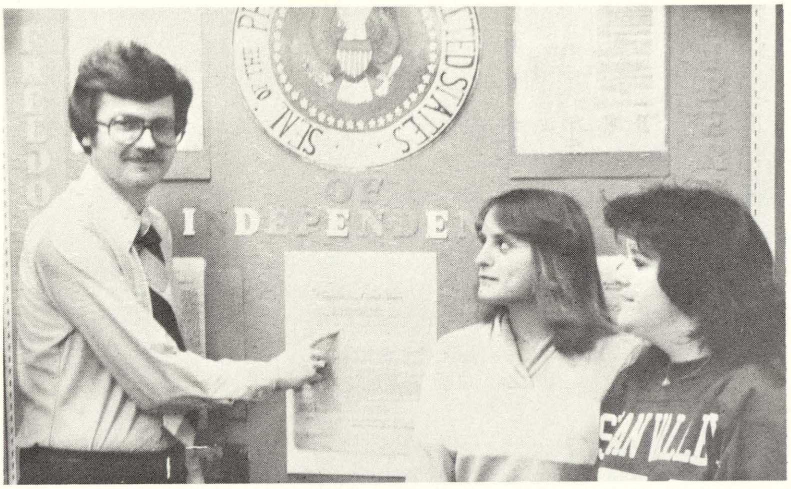
Freshman Faculty And Friends

Among the required classes freshmen had to take were Health I, Physical Education, and Civics/Geography. The three teachers pictured on this page taught these subjects and more. Mr. Majeske taught Civics/Geography as well as World History. Mrs. Koppenhofer was a Health I and Girls' Physical Education instructor. Civics/Geography and varsity sports were taught by Mr. Koons.

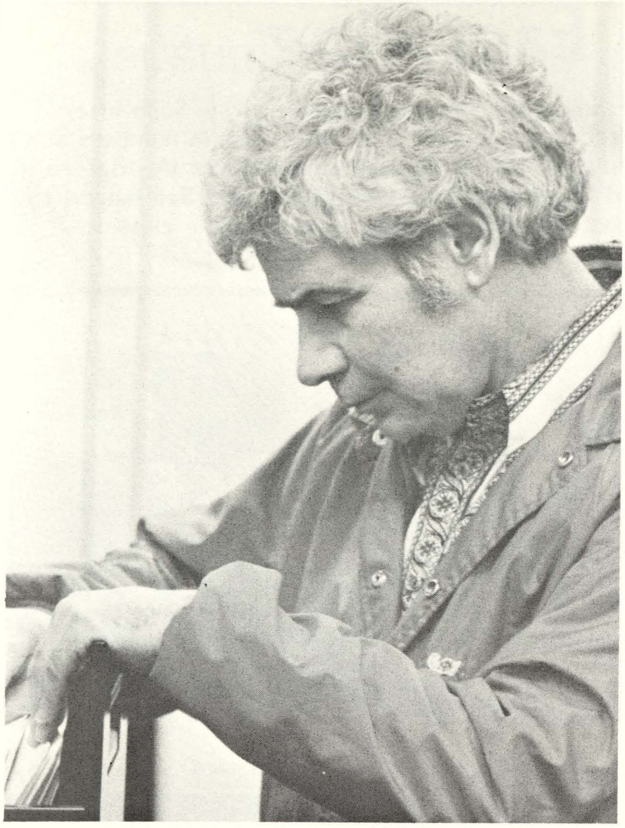
Coach Koons lets his students rest awhile during varsity sports.



Mr. Majeske points to one of his many documents on his bulletin board.

Dave Rowe appears to be distracted by something.

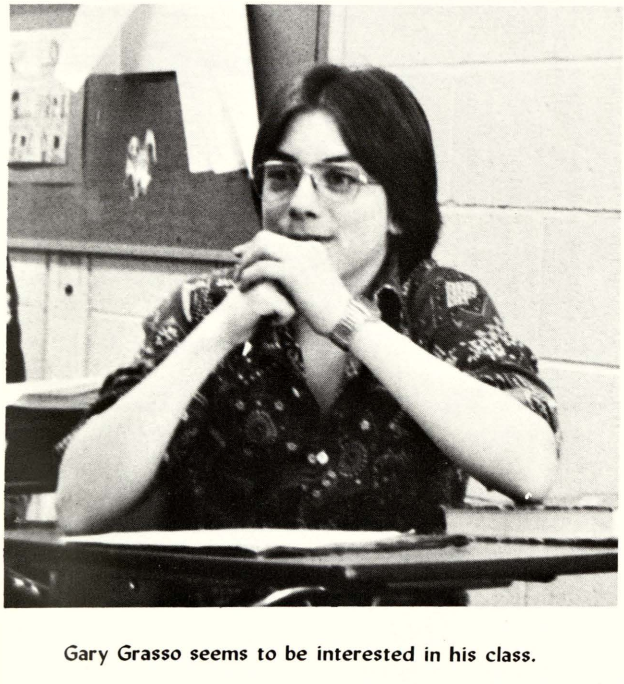
Mrs. Koppenhofer is always willing to give advice.



Mr. Surian searches through his files for a worksheet to challenge his students.

Is Mr. Surian telling another of his famous fish stories?

"Did you hear what happened yesterday?" asks Julie Martin.



Gary Grasso seems to be interested in his class.

Earl Settle tries to accomplish his work.

Factors And Factoring

For the freshmen, the fun started right away. Soon after school started in September, they were lost in numbers and equations in such classes as Algebra I, Algebra IA, Algebra IB, Accelerated Algebra, and General Math. Mrs. Bell helped to clear the confusion by teaching three of these classes.

Britt Heinz and Lisa Brosofski are enjoying a good joke.

Mrs. Bell makes her students work hard.

Rick Bowden enjoys his math assignment.

Class of 82

Sophomores followed a varied curriculum which included both required courses and electives. One of our mathematicians Mr. Rossio taught Algebra B, Modern Geometry, and General Math II. Mr. Schrems taught a variety of science courses including Biology I, Anatomy, and Physical Science. Mr. Klemko instructed 10th graders in U.S. History, a required course, and in an Ecology/Life science class.

Mr. Rossio smiles as he reads a letter which one of his students left on his desk.

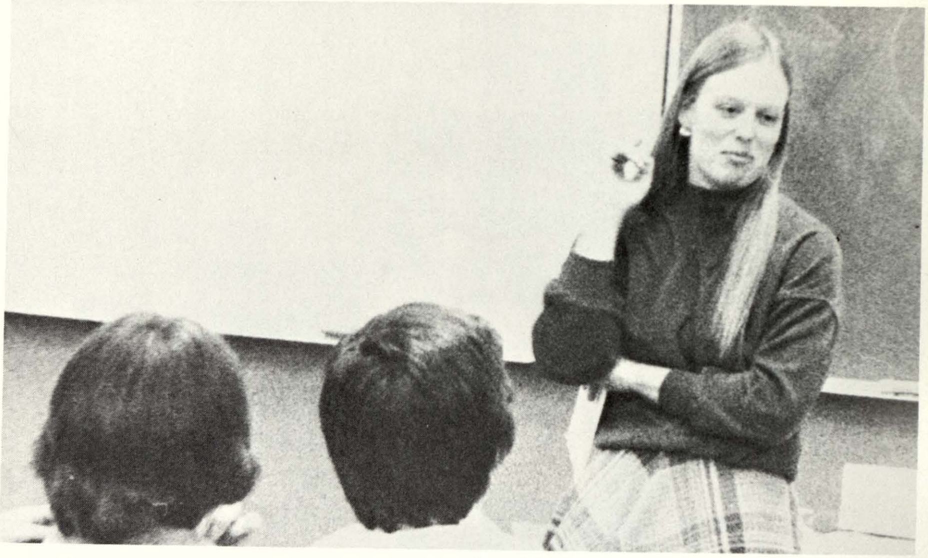
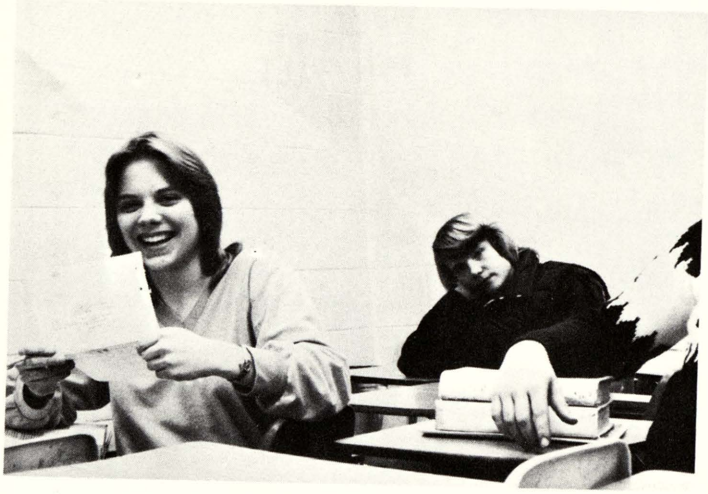
Sophomores Learn Embarrassment

Because Speech is a required subject for every sophomore, they had to learn to withstand the embarrassment of giving many speeches on various topics. Speech was taught by Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Schneider, and Mr. Snyder. Most of them enjoyed doing their original commercials because they were videotaped and later saw themselves on TV.



Mrs. Schneider listens to some feedback.



Kathi Gilbert rehearses her speech during study hall.

Sophomores had the opportunity to hear Dr. Richard Mudd speak about his grandfather Dr. Samuel Mudd.

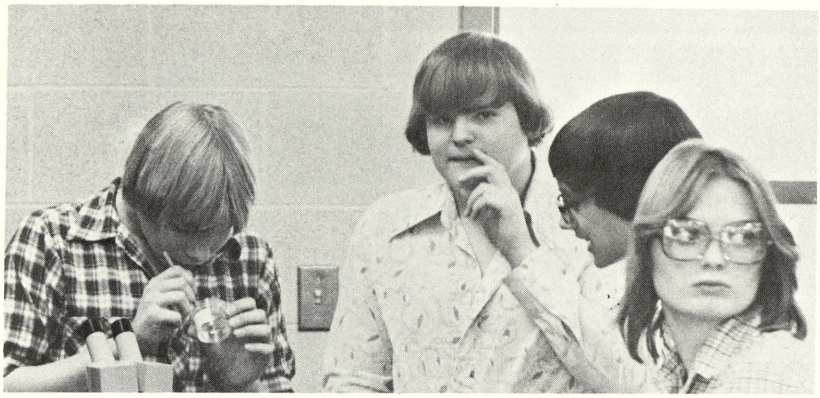
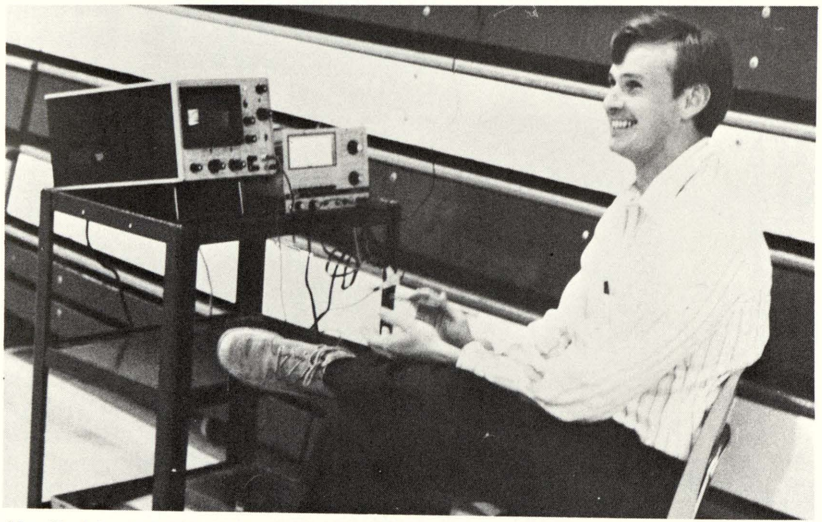
Mysteries Of Science



Students get really enthused during their biology labs.



Mr. Hyduke helps to determine the winner of the cheering competition at a pep assembly with electronic equipment.

Dave Sparling and Patty Monahan discuss the results of their experiment in science class.

Mrs. Nassif laughs at one of the jokes told by a students.

Collecting insects and dissecting frogs were only two of the many experiences of the students in Mrs. Nassif's Biology I classes. Mrs. Nassif also taught Biology II and chemistry.

Mr. Hyduke's students learned about the weather, rock formations, and other scientific phenomena in his classes. He taught courses in weather, geology, and life science.

Students could choose from a wide variety of science courses to complete their requirements for graduation.

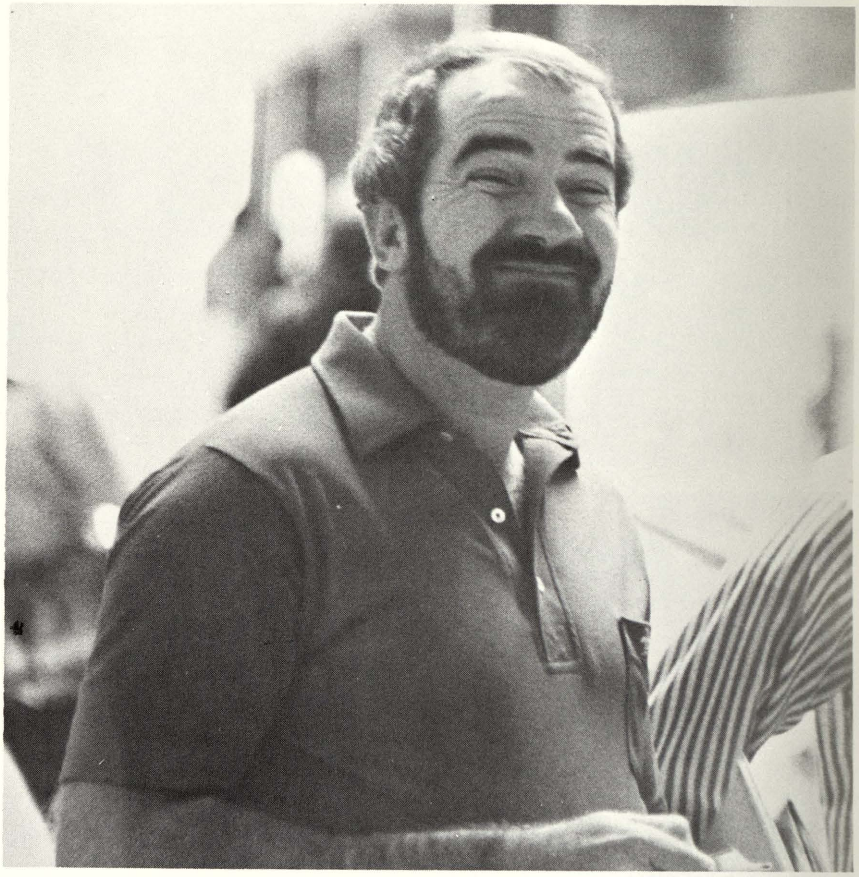
Those Wild And Crazy Juniors

Explore America's past, today's society, and the human mind with Mr. Hamling. He taught these subjects in his classes of psychology, sociology, and U.S. History.

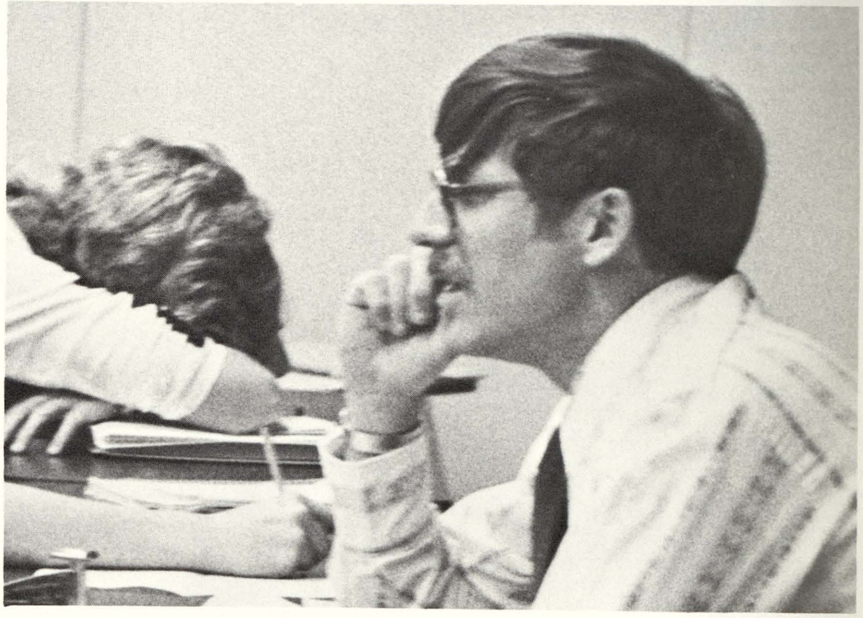
Mrs. Butcher prepared her students for careers in business in her beginning typing, general business, and office practice classes.

Additional business courses in bookkeeping and business math were taught by Mr. Adams. Mr. Adams was also a senior class adviser.

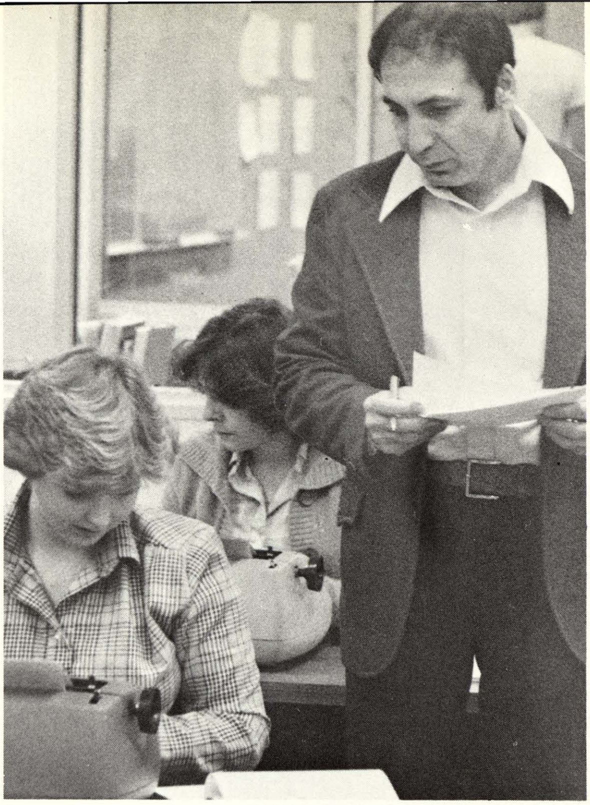


Mr. Hamling practices the philosophy that smiling makes the world a brighter place.

Mrs. Butcher sets a good example of how business women should dress.



Mr. Adams searches his class for dozing students.



Laura Wilson perfects her typing skills under the watchful eye of Mr. Nassif.

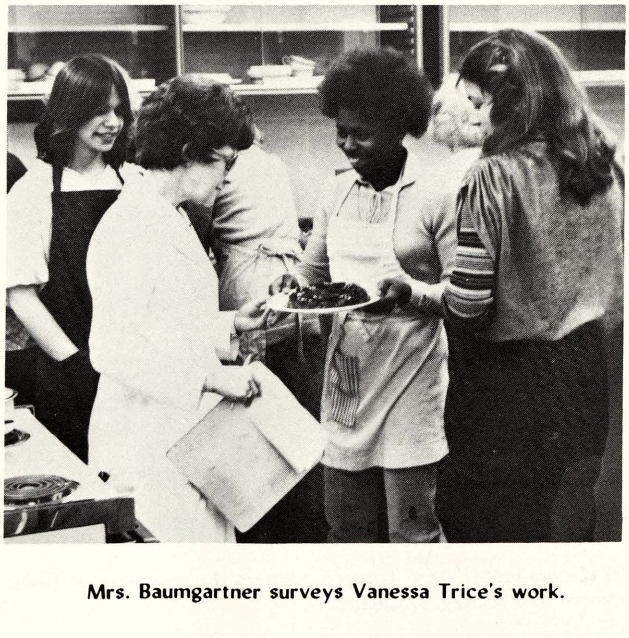
Mr. Tesauro strikes a woeful pose.

Mr. Nassif instructed the future secretaries of America in his Typing I, Typing II, and Shorthand I classes. Mrs. Baumgartner's classes in family relations, food management, child development, home planning, and home economics prepared students for future family life.

Formerly a social studies teacher, Mr. Tesauro switched to English this year and taught Vocational English and reading for the imagination. In addition, he taught advanced boys' physical education.

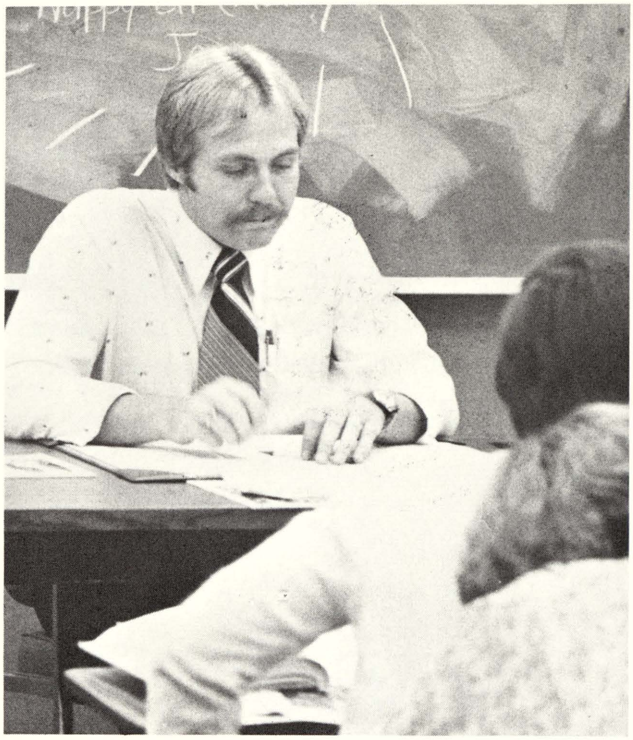
Lori Lail appears unaware of the mischief Karen Sessions is up to.

Mrs. Baumgartner smiles devilishly as she prepares to hand out another assignment.

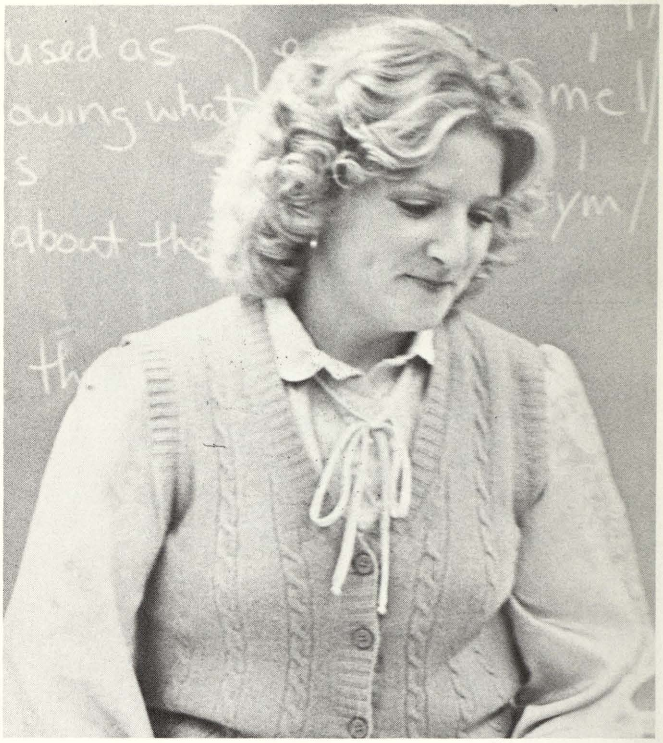


Mrs. Baumgartner surveys Vanessa Trice's work.

The Three R's Are Fun!



Mr. Hoewe enjoys planning homework for his Mass Media classes.



Ms. Burnside grimaces as the camera clicks.

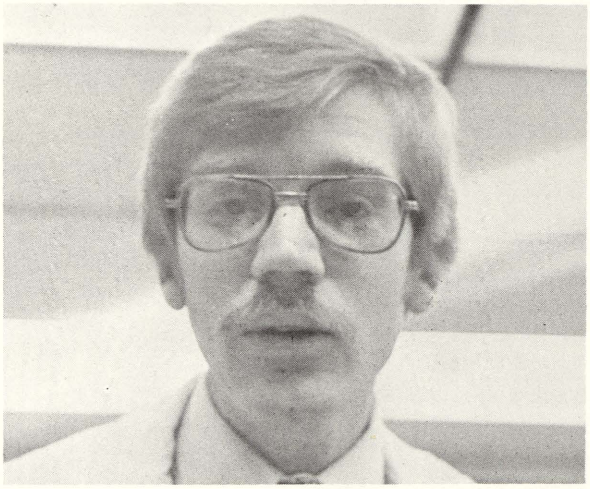
The three teachers on this page teach many juniors the wonders of language. The language need not be English as Mrs. Tesauro will attest. She teaches Spanish I and II to eager students. Academic and Basic English and American Literature are the subjects Ms. Burnside specializes in. Mr. Hoewe deals with such fun classes as Mass Media, Reading Enrichment, and for the first time since 1976, a journalism class which publishes a bimonthly paper The Viking Voice.

The always helpful Mrs. Tesauro answers the questions of Barb Delmont and Shelley McCarthy.

Mrs. Tesauro enjoys her Spanish students as much as they enjoy her classes.

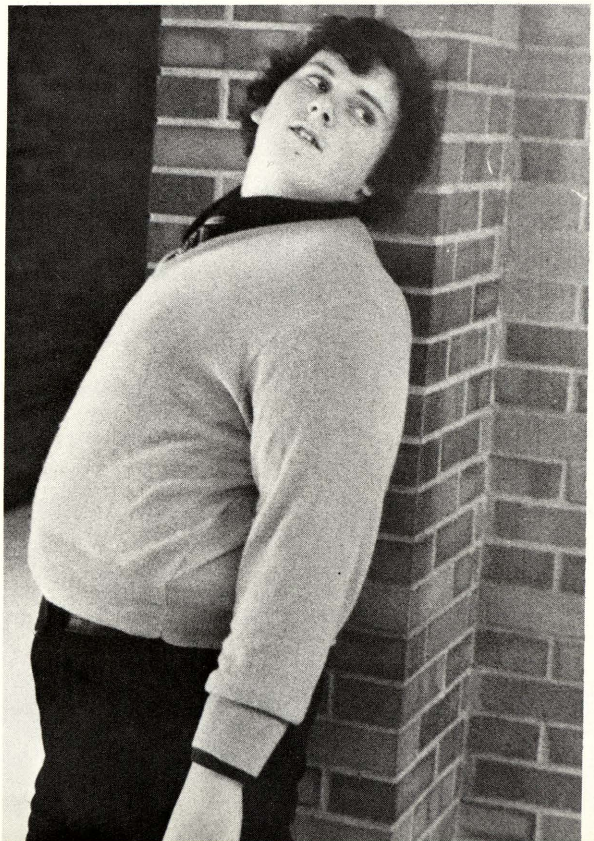
Two teachers guaranteed to set the juniors to thinking and fits of frustration are Mrs. Hensler and Mr. Belcher. If one wants a challenging math class, just sign up for one of Mrs. Hensler's classes. She teachers General Math II, Plane Geometry, and Algebra II and Trigonometry. A thought-provoking science class can be provided by Mr. Belcher, who teaches Physics, Chemistry, and Astronomy.

"C'mon, Lisa, it's not that funny!"



Mr. Belcher looks as puzzled as his chemistry students usually do.

Mrs. Hensler checks papers with an eagle-eye.

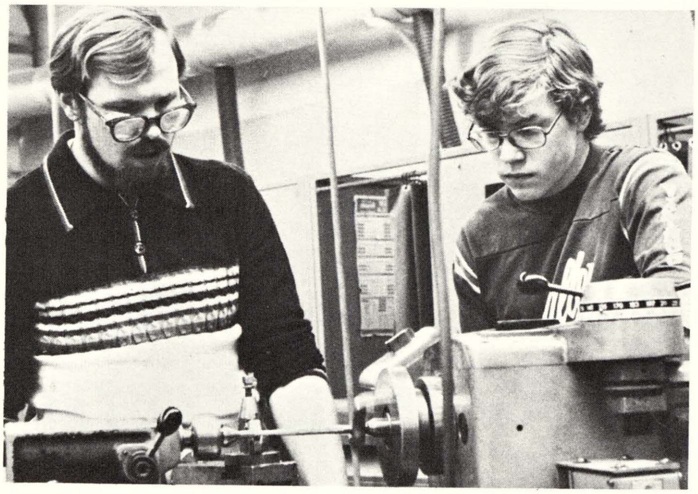


Is Mark Dorcey lurking in the corner?

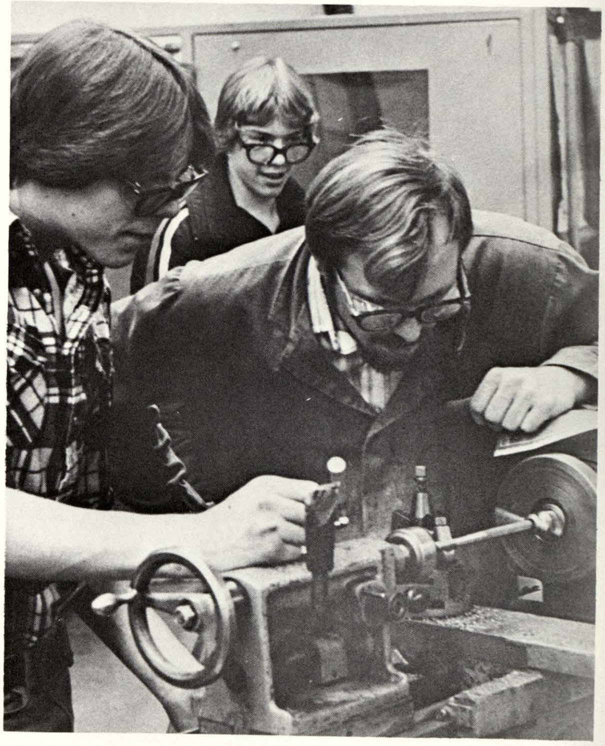
Industrial Creativity

Metals and Wood Technology were two classes that required much thinking and creativity. Teaching these classes were Mr. Frick and Mr. Henry. They taught the basics of metal and wood working and the students built from there. For years Viking shop students have been praised for their outstanding achievements in metal and wood technology.

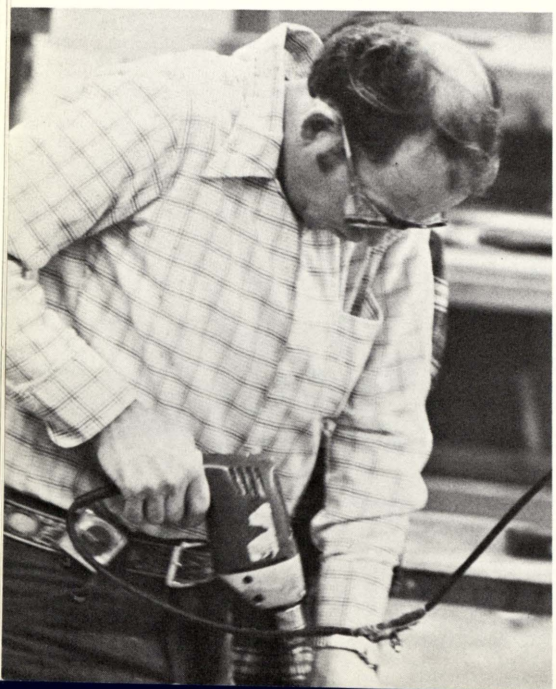
Mr. Henry discusses a drilling maneuver with two intent students.



Mike Leddy is aided by Mr. Frick in a difficult mechanical problem.



Mr. Frick closely examines Paul Sawicki's handiwork.



Mr. Henry demonstrates how to use the drill.

The senior class officers spent many hours this year organizing money making projects and senior activities. They also helped in the planning of the senior trip to Cedar Point. Without them, a senior trip would not have been possible.

The senior Student Council members were Julie Wilson, Carolyn Berry, Jeaneen Oliver, Jackie Vargas, and Scott LaDouce.

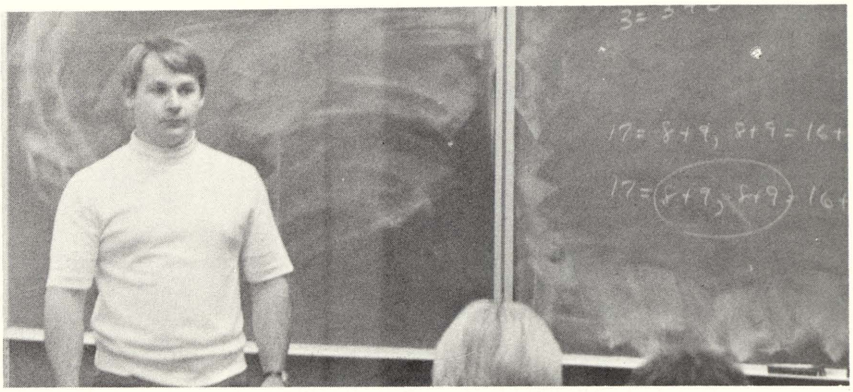
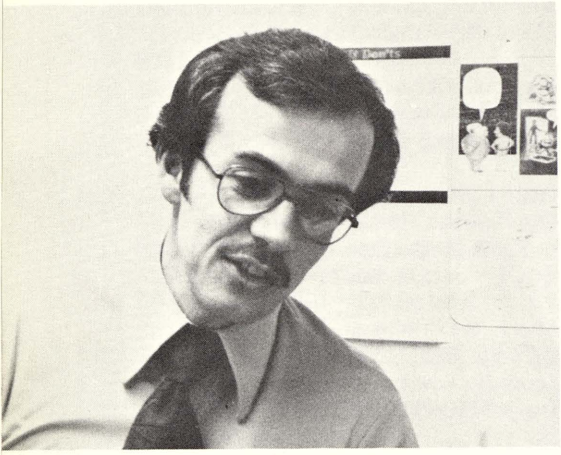
Senior Classes

The teachers pictured below all had one thing in common, they taught seniors. Mr. Cichowski taught shop math, Algebra IA, and Pre-Calculus. Mechanical Drawing, Engineering Drawing, and Small Engines were taught by Mr. Guilford. Mr. Wartenberg taught General Math II, Government, and Economics classes. Senior advisor Mrs. Crampton also taught Government and Economics classes as well as U.S. History.



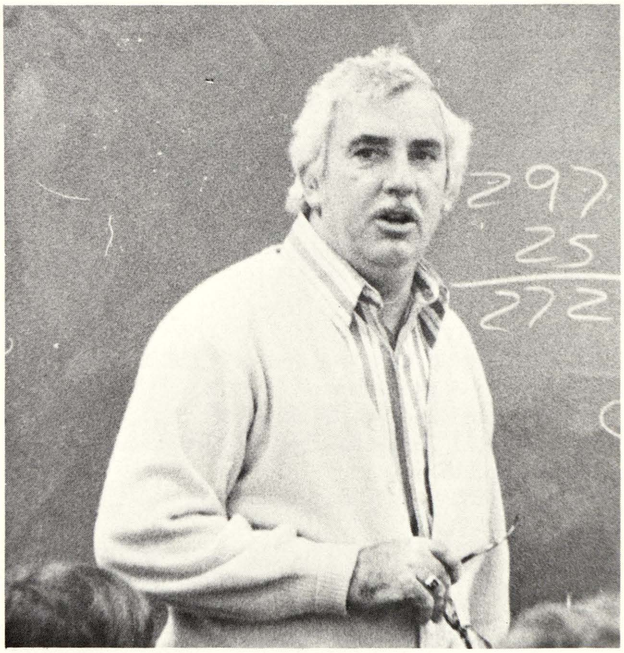
Mr. Cichowski patiently awaits the "right" answer to his math problem.



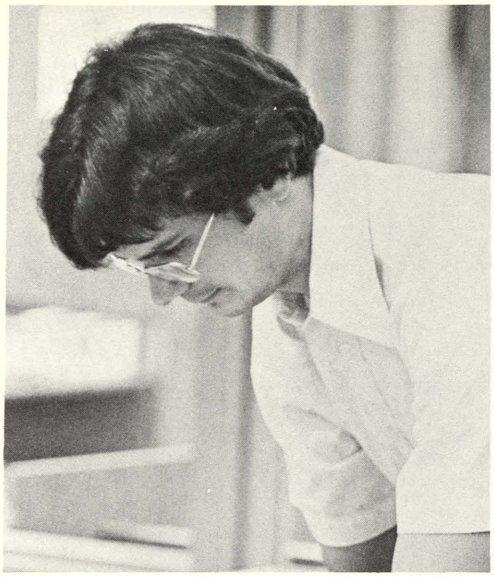
The mechanically-minded Mr. Guilford smiles as he thinks about his classes.

Mr. Delbert Hicks speaks to the econ classes about buying insurance.

Mrs. Crampton eagerly launches into a lecture.

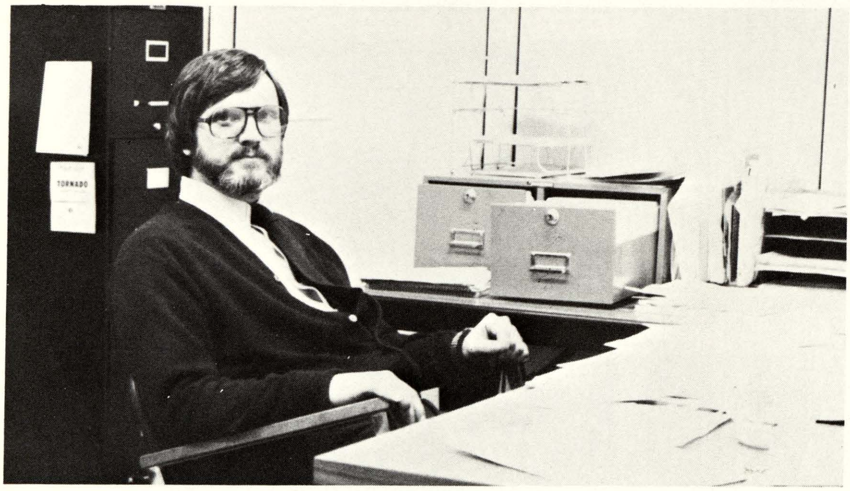


Mr. Wartenberg passes on his wisdom whether his students want it or not.

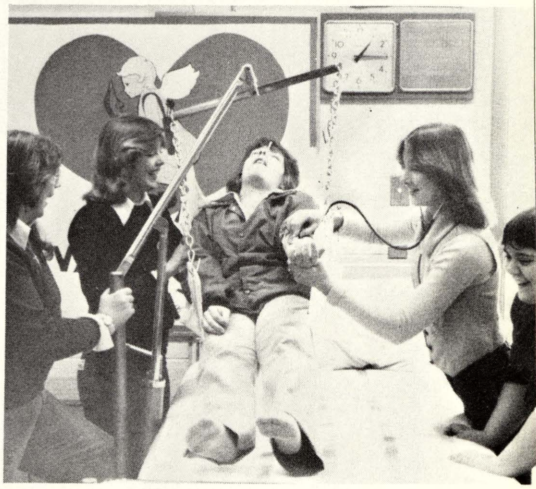


The librarian Mr. Buller keeps the library in top condition.

Mrs. Stearns bravely musters a smile as she checks the yearbook's shaky financial standing.



Mr. Howard relaxes before doing a pile of paper work.



"Trust me, I know what I'm doing!"

Class time or lunch time?

Librarian Mr. Buller worked hard to help students and teachers locate materials in the library.

Mrs. Stearns, head of the yearbook staff, also taught Academic English and English Literature.

Counselor Mr. Howard spent many hours working with seniors' schedules and keeping count on their credit hours.

Learning Of Careers, Planning Futures

Miss Gibfried spends many hours helping upperclassmen plan for the future.

"Art class can be a creative mess," laughs Linda Finkbeiner while watching Mr. Snyder and Mindy Zastrow at work.

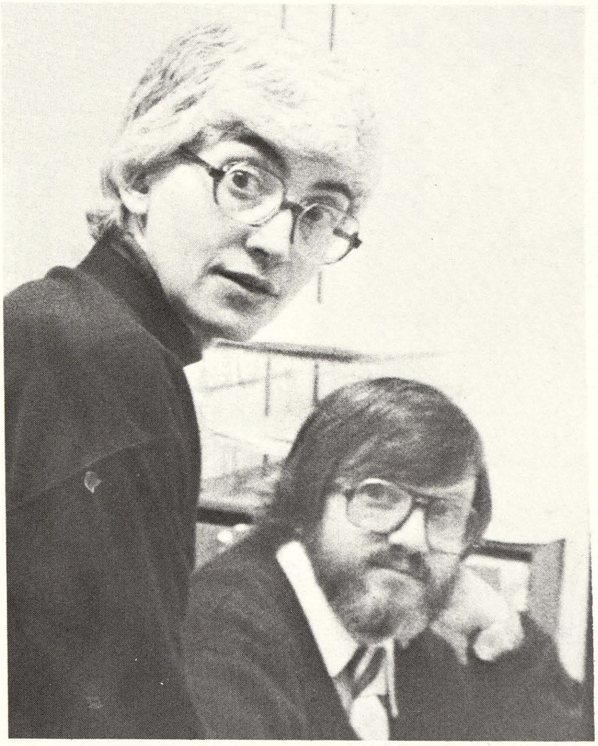
SHAN VALLEY

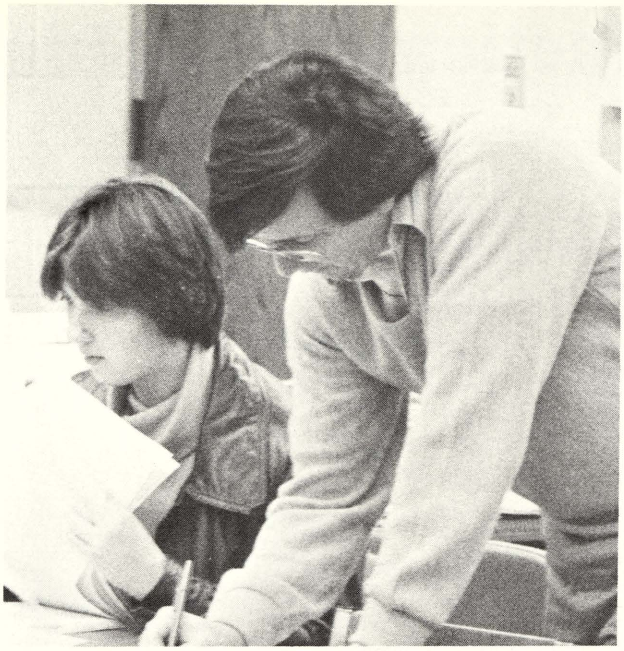
The physics class jokes around Mr. Belcher's legendary comment board.



High school counselors Mr. Howard and Miss Gibfried caught in conference.

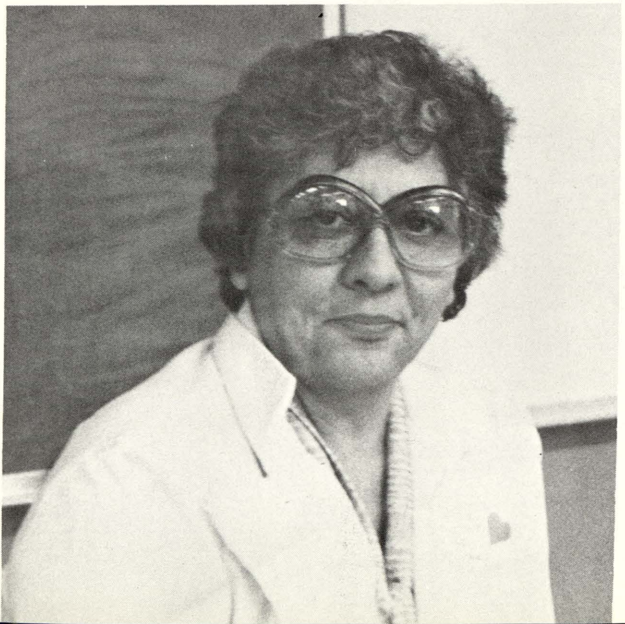
Throughout the year, Miss Gibfried and Mr. Howard spent countless hours counseling high school students from all grades. Mr. Howard helped the freshmen and sophomores plan their class schedules and solve their problems. Miss Gibfried advised the juniors and seniors about college entrance tests, financial aid, and college applications as well as being there when they needed someone to talk to.

Art classes taught by Mr. Snyder were enjoyed by all grades, but the seniors enjoyed the most advanced art courses.



Ronda VanEpps consults Mr. Slade with her career plans.

Yes, Mr. Slade does have a sense of humor.



Students in the Nurse's Aide class which was taught by Mrs. Wood received practical experience by working with patients at the Saginaw Osteopathic Hospital and the Luther Manor.

Mr. Slade did triple duty for the senior class by advising in the Career Resource Center, teaching Business Law, and acting as coordinator for the work experience students.

Terri McManus and Polly Patterson ponder perplex physics problems.

Gaining Practical Knowledge

Swan Valley High School offered a variety of vocational courses for its students. Each course was at least a two hour block. These classes provide better training for future occupational plans.

Before The 13th Amendment . . .

Pat Skillman "plunges" his way down the hall.

Yes, I am a MAN.

February 18, 1980 was an unusual day at Swan Valley. Several seniors were sold at the annual Slave Sale. Profits went toward the senior's account. The costumes were outlandish, and the day was a big success.

Ann Maturen relives the frontier days.

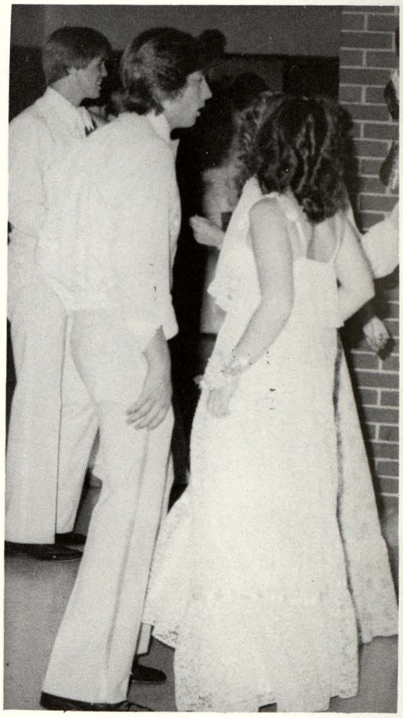
Going once, Going twice . . .

"Imagine All The People . . ."

Considered along with Homecoming as the highlight of the school year, the Junior/Senior Prom requires much planning and preparation. Dresses and tickets must be bought, tuxedos must be rented, and the junior class must hire a band and make arrangements with Delta College to have the Prom there.

This year the band hired was Ceyx, and the theme of the prom was "There's No Stopping Us Now". The dance was held from 8 to 12, and on these two pages are some of the memories of the night of May 31, 1980.



There's No Stopping Us Now . . .

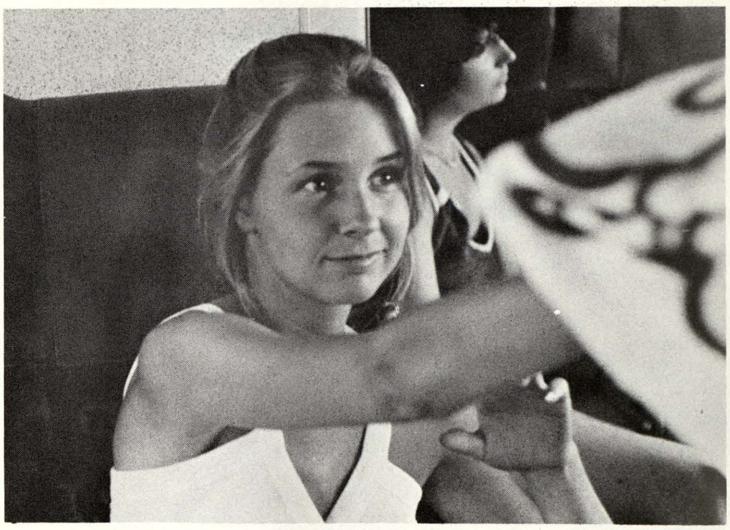
PIZZA BEER
PIZZA-BEER

'They're the cutest couple at Swan Valley," says Cindy.



Dreamy-eyed Diane thinks back on an action-packed day.

Dawn and Dawn prepare to leave Cedar Point.

And they're off!!

Senior Trip: Cedar Point

"Hollywood, here I come!"

MUST RIDE
IN FRONT OF AN ADULT
NO RIDING SIDE-SADDLE

ABOVE: Fortunately, the lines were short for the rides.
BELOW: "Where do we start?" wonders Cindy, Marlis, and Melody.

Two busloads of seniors started off on May 28 for a day at Cedar Point. Departure time was 6 A.M. sharp and arrival at Cedar Point was approximately noon. The seniors then enjoyed the frills and thrills of Cedar Point until 7 P.M. They then departed for Saw Mill Creek, a resort in Sandusky, Ohio. The evening was spent eating and dancing. The class giftatory was read and enjoyed by all. Homeward bound by midnight, the weary, but cheery, seniors arrived home at 4 A.M.

Our Time

Here we stand, so patiently,
The graduating class of nineteen-eighty.
Looking back on times gone by,
At many we smile; at some we cry.
Remember "Rat Day"? Boy, what fun!
Just our luck it would be the last one.
How about Western and T-shirt Days?
Were you ever a victim of the "Kiss Me" craze?
Hey, girls, we'll all have to go for a swim,
The next time someone sets fire to the gym!
All the time spent on composition and speech,
When anyone would rather be at Sanford Beach!
So what if our Homecoming floats never won?
We had the most spirit, yes, "We're number one!"
We've grown up together, through thick and thin,
Yet after graduation, life will just begin.
New friends, new faces,
New Jobs, new places . . .
All will fill hours in our new-found free time,
Through leaving these halls of Swan Valley behind.
Maybe later we'll walk down these halls again,
New voices will be cheering the Vikes on to win.
Or is it just echoes of memories we'll find?
Once we walk through these doors one last time,
Leaving lockers, friends, and footprints behind,
We'll know that marks the end of "Our Time."

Through the years
We have come to know each other.
We have learned together,
Grown together,
And we have become friends.
In this brief time we have gained
knowledge,
Here we have acquired skills.
Here we are secure.
But, there is a world out there,
Waiting for us, calling us.
We will go our separate ways
And learn the wisdom only experience can bring.
Although we will be apart,
There will be a place in each heart for the others,
Our classmates,
Our friends.

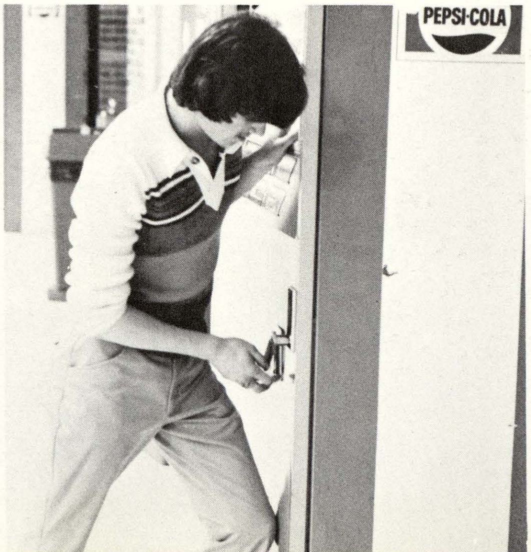
Student Council

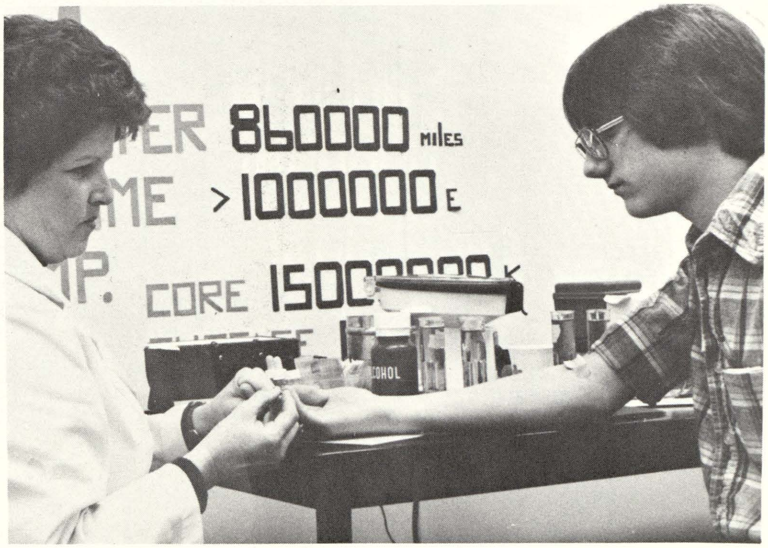
Swan Valley's Student Council members were the leaders that influenced Vikings' lives throughout the year. The politicians worked toward a better more enjoyable school. They attempted to accomplish that by having assemblies for the student body and beneficial events for the community. Led by President Jeaneen Oliver and Vice-President Cathy Turner, the Council sponsored blood drives, Homecoming, community cleanups, and two enjoyable assemblies.

Student Council officers were Julie Wilson, Treasurer; Cathy Turner, Vice-President; Jeaneen Oliver, President; and Jackie Vargas, Secretary.

The faculty advisor for the Student Council was Mr. Ron Schrems.

The pop machines in the cafeteria are another Student Council responsibility.





Annual blood drives are one of the worthwhile projects sponsored by the Student Council. Here Bruce Unger has his blood typed before donating.

Students become part of the show when they volunteer to be hypnotized.

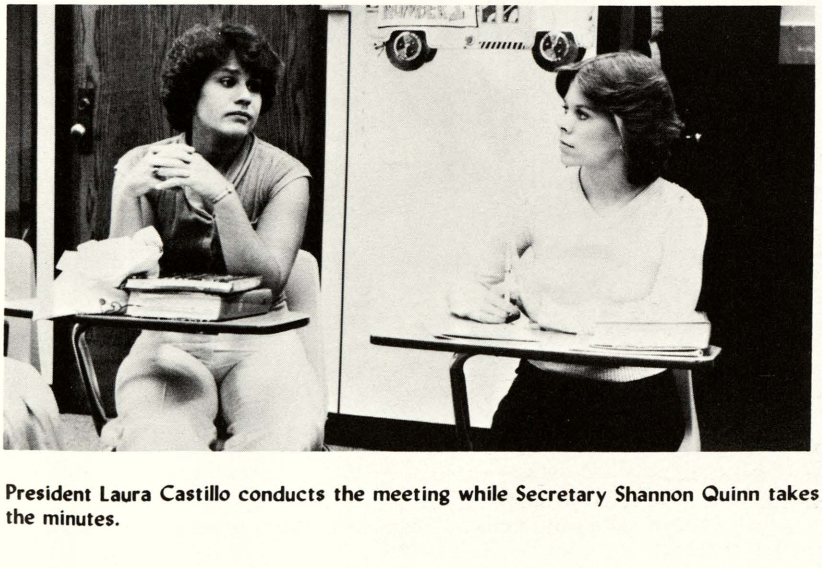
Senora Tesauro

The club has done various things this year to earn some money. We had had plans for an excursion, but it was never realized. We hope to have a day for this. We have had some parties for different celebrations.

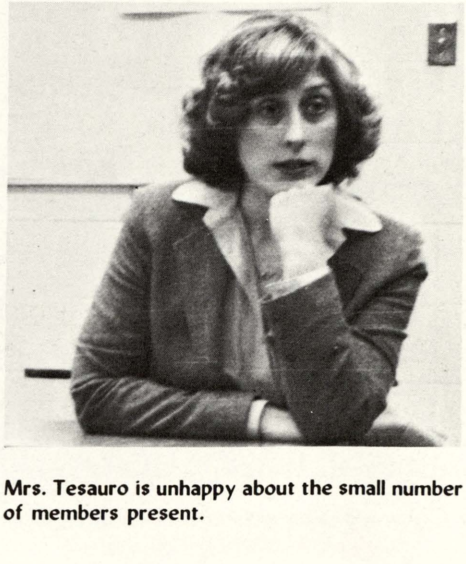
The Spanish Club has a large membership, but many members do not make it to meetings which are held at 7:30 A.M.

The officers of the Spanish Club were President Laura Castillo, Vice President Jeaneen Oliver, Secretary Shannon Quinn, and Treasurer Ann Schrems.

At 7:30 A.M. these members of the Spanish Club are still half asleep but did make it to the meeting.



President Laura Castillo conducts the meeting while Secretary Shannon Quinn takes the minutes.



Mrs. Tesauro is unhappy about the small number of members present.

Valhalla 1979-80 Staff

Having met all deadlines, the staff of the 1980 Valhalla proved the value of having a yearbook class. The 15 students who compiled this book earned an English credit while learning how to sell advertising space, plan page layouts, write good copy, and take, print and crop pictures.

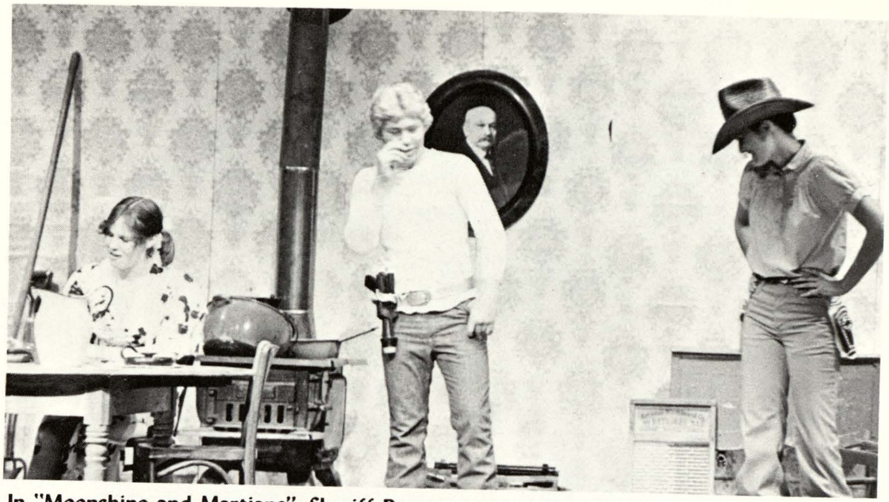
Drama Students

This year's drama classes presented several plays. In the fall, their presentations were two one-act plays, "Moonshine and Martians" and "Alias Smedly Pewtree." For the children's theater, they did "The Frog Prince" and "The Smartest Lad in All the World." Up the Down Staircase, a fine production, was their last play. The class worked very hard to make these plays successful. They could not have been done without Mrs. Johnson's help.



In "Moonshine and Martians", Sheriff Potter questions Kragg, the Martian as Laura tries not to listen.

Moe explains his plan to Willie.

Ruth Vincent advertises that her flowers are for sale in "Alias Smedly Pewtree."

Varsity Golfers Tie For Tri-Valley Championship

Varsity Golf

The 1979 Viking Linksmen capped off an up and down season with an outstanding Tri-Valley Conference Meet victory. The meet victory insured the Vikings of a Tri-Valley championship tie, the first championship of the new league.

The Vikings dual meet record ended with a 4-4 record overall and 4-2 conference record. The invitationals saw the Vikings finish 6th out of 15 at Houghton Lake, 7th out of 11 at Alma, and 8th out of 20 at the regionals. Individually, the Vikings were led by senior Most Valuable Golfer, Jim Moulton, who finished the season with an 80.4 stroke average. Jim's final average was the 2nd lowest in Swan Valley history. Jim also ended up as the conference low medalist and 1st team All-Conference. Junior Jim Koeltzow was the 2nd low average golfer with 84.7. Jim also was 2nd team All-Conference and received a 2nd place medal in the State Regional tourney with an 82 at Green Acres.

Seniors Scott LaDouce and Corey Phillips played 3rd and 4th men and contributed greatly to our conference success.

Junior Varsity Golf

The 1979 JV golf team consisted of sixteen young men, of which there were 14 freshmen, one sophomore, and one junior.

The team compiled a record of 9 wins and 2 losses. It had a match average of 237.9 strokes or an average of 47.6 per man.

One of the highlights of the season was the JV team winning its own Swan Valley JV Invitational Golf Tournament. In that tournament Dan Thomas was medalist with a 78. The team was led by freshman Dan Thomas with a match average of 41.1. His average is the best ever made by a JV golfer since golf became a varsity sport in 1972. Dan had lots of help this season. It came from freshmen Steve Larsen with a match average of 48.1, Jeff Arch with a match average of 48.6, Doug Gillis with a match average of 48.8, and Todd Root with a match average of 51.3.

Varsity coach Mike Humphrey and JV coach Chuck Reeder are looking forward to a successful 1980 golf season.

Viking Harriers Show Promise

This year's cross country team was a pleasant surprise to everyone. With a roster of 17 that included 15 underclassmen, Swan Valley's Harriers captured three victories to finish in 5th place in the new Tri Valley Conference. Sophomore Chip Carrick had a super season as he was a medalist in all of the tournaments the Vikings entered. Chip was 1st team All Conference, 1st team All Saginaw County, and finished the season with a blistering 16:02 to place 23rd in the Class "B" State Finals. For the first time the Vikings boasted a full girls' varsity squad. Led by 1st team All Conference selections Sue Kamsickas and Angela Casale, our girls finished 4th in the eight team conference.

This year's team was very enjoyable as they were hard working, had excellent leadership, and were outstanding in the area of enthusiasm and team play.

We won a lot of close games and games where we had to play under the pressure of being behind. This characteristic is one of an excellent team. I would like to wish the seniors all the luck in the world, and to the underclassmen who return to carry on the Viking tradition — 1980 will be our year!

Viking Girls Win In Spirit

This year's varsity season was indeed a combination of hard work, determination and persistence of effort. Each team member never failed to answer the needs of the team. Regardless of the team we were playing, our team contributed their utmost. The value of being a member of the 1979 varsity team hopefully will be reflected in the years to come by actions and thoughts of individual members. It was indeed my pleasure.

Team Provides Fans With Thrillers

The Varsity basketball team finished the season with a 17-5 record. The team was led by Seniors Scott Stedry, Al Meatte, and Mike Ellis. Juniors Phil Young and Rick DeLisle, along with Seniors Tim Giacoletti and Mike Lynch used their abilities to add to the strength of the team. The players provided the fans with many exciting games as they won eight games by seven or less points. Teamwork and defense, the trademark of Swan Valley Basketball, were the key to the fine season. There were many fine individual performances throughout the year. Scott Stedry finished his fine career by setting nineteen new season and career records. The desire and determination to win gives the 1979-80 edition of Varsity basketball its own place among the other great teams at Swan Valley.

Freshman "A" Shows Potential

Swan Valley's Freshman "A" basketball team progressed well this season despite illness and numerous injuries. Numerous players played key roles in the season. Defensive play was led by Dan Thomas, while the scoring slack was picked up by George Pappas and Doug Gillis. Leading the team in rebounding were George Pappas and Jeff Arch. As the season progressed, Brett Pawlanta came on strong and moved into the starting line-up. Mike Mielke also developed into a reliable sixth man. Overall, the team showed tremendous potential which surfaced as the season progressed, and should make them a very competitive junior varsity club.

Teamwork Key To Varsity Season

The 1980 Varsity Volleyball team ended its season in the newly formed Tri-Valley Conference with an 8-6 record. The competition continues to improve with each year of girls' participation. Our ability improved over last year, and the girls played good offensive, competitive ball. We started our season strong, but as the second round progressed, we realized our opponents had also greatly improved. Our goal this year was "teamwork", and as coach, I feel we came a long way towards accomplishing this. Teamwork is a valuable asset to any person's life. Diane Tovey was elected Most Valuable Player by her teammates and was named to the All Conference First Team by the league coaches. Laura Castillo was elected for the All Conference Second Team, and Jackie Vargas received Honorable Mention.

Viking Tankers Thrash To 8-5 Season

This year's Viking swim team was a pleasant surprise. Picked by the Saginaw News as the team that would "bring up the rear", the mighty tankers proved that they were a team to be reckoned with. Led by Bill Basinger, the swimmers did show that though their team was small, it was able. Cliff Ross and Tom Basinger also helped to lead the Vikings to an 8-5 season by their outstanding performances. Brian Kahl also had the looks of a winner, but a mishap after the second meet laid him up for the remainder of the season.

All of the swimmers agreed that the excellent coaching of Kent Elzinga made the winning season possible. Good luck next year, Vikings!

Tenni̇s — Best Season Ever

Even though this was to be a rebuilding year, the Swan Valley Tennis team completed its most successful season with a 6-2 dual match record and a 3rd place finish in the 10 team Essexville Invitational.

Standouts this year were Dave Koppenhofer and Mike Paulus at number one doubles. The team lost only to eventual champion Douglas MacArthur in the Regional and to Oscoda in the finals of the Invitational. Tim Giacoletti was voted MVP and had a good year at number one singles. Returning next year will be seniors Koppenhofer and Koeltzow to lead the way and a large group of first and second year people from this year's team.

Several promising freshmen, including Rick Speer, Todd Oxdych, Steve Chick, Brad Baker, Jeff Arch, and Rick Bowden, will make the outlook for the next few years very good.

Respectable Softball Season

The girls finished with a respectable 9-8 record overall, with a 9-5 record in the league which was good for a second place finish. Although the seniors will be missed, the team was composed primarily of underclassmen; so with hard work and good effort next year should be promising.

It's been real.

A Look Back On The Year

U.S. Politics

The November 1980 presidential election set off a flurry of campaigning by the potential candidates. On the Republican side, the two front runners became former California governor Ronald Reagan and a virtually unknown senator from Connecticut George Bush. The Democrats appeared to be sticking with President Jimmy Carter despite some hard campaigning by his opponent Edward Kennedy. By May, Carter had captured enough delegate votes for the Democratic nomination, and Ronald Reagan had the Republican nomination because of the withdrawal of George Bush.

World Politics

During the past year, the United States has been severely tested in several aspects. First and foremost, was the big test of America's actual strength in the world. The Soviet Union invaded the oil rich country of Afghanistan in a power plan for world control. President Carter ordered a tough new set of economic and political reprisals against the Soviets including an embargo on technology and a sharp cutback in grain exports. Due to the increasing tension between the U.S. and the USSR, President Carter has been considering reinstating the draft and has caused a boycott of the summer Olympic Games in Russia.

This new cold war with Russia came at a time of deep political turmoil over the holding of 53 American hostages in Iran. Iranian students led or inspired by religious leader Ayatollah Khomeini took over the U.S. Embassy in the capital city of Teheran on November 4, 1979. They did this because the U.S. had allowed the former Shah of Iran into this country. The U.S. did have a friend in Canada during these dark times. The Canadian Embassy in Iran hid 6 U.S. diplomats until their escape during February. An ultra-secret rescue attempt made by 180 Air Force crewmen and special volunteers on May 2, 1980, went awry. At the time of this writing, the hostages are still being held.

The U.S. has always been looked to as a place for the people of oppressed or war-torn nations to come to live in freedom. The most recent flight to freedom was made by over 100,000 Cubans fleeing from Fidel Castro's communistic dictatorship. Flooding into Key West, Florida, the refugees caused much concern over their effect on the nation's already shaky economy.

Economy

The economy continued to frustrate Americans as the cost of living rose with no peak in sight. The following chart gives prices of some of our necessities.

	March 1976		June 1980
Gasoline	.54	per gallon	$1.27
Milk	$1.60	per gallon	2.33
Bread	.65	per loaf	.79
Sugar	.99	for 5 pounds	1.99

The most talked about item in the above column was gasoline. America's dependence on the unpredictable OPEC for oil put it into a desperate situation with no control over prices. Many states had to revert to "odd and even" gas days, and the term "gas line" was familiar to everyone, especially in California.

The oil crisis has in turn put the car industry into a slump. The Chrysler Corp. inched closely to bankruptcy for months, before Congress voted to toss the drowning automaker a lifeline. Despite this help, Chrysler and other automakers had to close whole plants.

Gold and silver became even more precious this past year, with gold hitting over $600 an ounce in London. Easy credit ended as a part of Jimmy Carter's inflation-fighting program that also included budget cuts and risky limits on social security benefits.

Sports

Americans collected 6 gold medals at the 1980 Winter Olympics held in Lake Placid, N.Y., 5 of them were won by speedskater Eric Heiden. The other gold was won by the astonishing U.S. Hockey Team with a stunning upset against the Russians. Elsewhere in sports, the city of Pittsburgh became the home of two world champion teams, The Pittsburgh Pirates won the World Series and the Pittsburgh Steelers defeated the Los Angeles Rams in the Super Bowl to become the football champs. Led by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and former Michigan Stater Earvin "Magic" Johnson, the Los Angeles Lakers downed the Philadelphia 76ers for the NBA title. A filly named Genuine Risk struck a blow for women's lib by winning the Kentucky Derby and placing second in both the Preakness and the Belmont. Bill Rogers won his 4th Boston Marathon, but his victory was overshadowed by a controversy in the women's division.

Science

A biological revolution in the form of recombinant DNA has given new hope to cancer victims as well as other disease sufferers. Solar heating is predicted to become the new form of energy, replacing the scarce oil for fuel. The American satellite Pioneer II continued to send new information as it probed the planets of Mercury, Venus, Mars, Saturn, and Jupiter.

Entertainment

Television introduced a new brand of entertainment to American audiences. NBC's "Real People" and ABC's "That's Incredible" showcased ordinary people with bizarre habits. Vying with such monumental films as All That Jazz and Apolcalpse Now, Kramer vs. Kramer won the 1979 Oscar for best picture. The most explosive film, however, was 10, which starred an unknown named Bo Derek.

Weather

Most of the country had a mild winter unlike the bad winter of a year ago, and a mild summer has been predicted. A volcano in Washington named Mount St. Helens erupted for the first time since the late 1800's, disrupting the weather in much of the Northwest. Scientists anticipate Mount St. Helens will continue to erupt for several years.

Tornadoes continued to plague the nation during May and June. Kalamazoo was hit by a devastating tornado in May.

The time spent in school accounts for much of the first 20 years of one's life. By the time a student has graduated, he has spent about 3,500 hours or more in school, as well as in school activities, and has accumulated thousands of memories.

A yearbook is, in reality, a record of some of these memories. Swan Valley's memory book is the Valhalla, and I am proud to say I have taken part in the making of the 1980 Valhalla. I have been happy to work with a dedicated and energetic staff of 14 students. Some special thanks must be given to some very special people. The Class of 1980 was our saving grace by pulling the Valhalla out of debt with a contribution of $312.03 to pay the 1979 balance due. Our advertisers made the yearbook financially possible and are always deeply appreciated. Finally, deep gratitude must be expressed to Mrs. June Stearns, our advisor and business manager. Without her, this yearbook would not have been possible.
